

EMPOWERING TEEN MOMS

Hope House is metro-Denver's only resource providing free self-sufficiency programs to parenting teen moms, including Residential, High School & GED and College & Career Programs. Additional supportive services include parenting and healthy relationships classes, an Early Learning Program, health and wellness, financial literacy and personal growth classes as well as certified counseling, all designed to prepare them for long-term independence. Hope House relies on numerous volunteers and local business partnerships to accomplish its mission.

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

Nearly 2,500 babies are born each year in Colorado to teen moms, and 67% of these little families will end up living below the poverty line. Our Residential Program meets a significant need in the community by offering a safe, stable home for teen moms and their children who are participating in our programs and have become homeless or are living in an unsafe environment. Our 12-bedroom home provides our moms up to a week of respite care, up to nine months of transitional housing or up to two years of comprehensive programming. While at the house, our moms are engaged and challenged through an individual growth plan, learning to incorporate healthy routines into daily life while living with their children and their peers in a safe, supportive environment.

HOPE HOUSE PROGRAMS

Teen moms are one of the most vulnerable yet overlooked groups in our community, with less than 2% graduating from college and only half earning a high school diploma. Our Hope House Programs offer tangible hope, providing a variety of free services designed to help teen moms become self-sufficient members of their community who are also nurturing, loving parents. These programs provide a menu-style approach to services that allows our teen moms to define their own goals and then select the Program Components that will help them reach their goal.
